ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE AND MINISTRIES

What a success last weekend's Ministry Fair was – because of you! The sign-up sheets reflected more than 50 names.

Remember, though, it's never too late to get involved. Lent – the perfect time to commit to serving others – is fast approaching, and opportunities abound here to serve.

END-OF-LIFE RELATIONSHIPS

The Palliative Care Team at St. Luke's Cornwall Hospital is presenting the documentary "Being Mortal" by Atul Gawande, MD, MPH at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 1 in the Drake Conference Room of SLCH's Newburgh Campus. The snow date is 6 p.m. Feb. 15.

This documentary explores the relationships between doctors and their patients nearing the end of life. A group discussion and Q&A will follow the screening. Light refreshments will be provided.

All are welcome but need to RSVP to Ellen Venugopal at 568-2565 or evenugopal@slchospital.org.

DO YOU WANT A VISIT AT ORMC?

A hospitalization, whether planned or an emergency, is a stressful event. If you or a loved one is an inpatient at Orange Regional Medical Center and would like Deacon Carl to visit, please call the Church Office so arrangements can be made.

At the same time, the Prayer Chain and/or receipt of a Prayer Blanket can be also be discussed.

We want you well again soon!

CALLING POTENTIAL CATECHISTS

It takes a village to raise a child – including each child's religious education. And St. Paul's is in need of more “villagers.”

Perhaps as you reflect on your religious education decades ago, you wonder what skills you could possibly have that would make you a suitable catechist. Faith and a love of children are the key requirements; curriculum and guidance are provided by a supportive staff.

Perhaps you just can't imagine where you can pull another couple of hours from. But if you're already dropping a child off, instead of going home consider teaching a class at the same time. Not only will you save on gas, but the dinner dishes might be cleaned and put away upon your return.

And if you're still hesitant about making a full commitment, there's always need for substitutes.

Need more details? Feel free to give Jessica Carpino, the Religious Education coordinator, a call at 361-5816.

WOMEN'S WEEKEND RETREAT

The Vincent Pallotti Center in Monroe is hosting a Women's Retreat beginning at 9:30 am Saturday, Feb. 3 & Sunday, Feb. 4. Sister Deanna Sabetta, of the Archdiocese of New York and a sister of the Community of Notre Dame, is the retreat director.

The theme, “Into the Heart of Contemplation,” focuses on the journey of two women of the Bible and how that journey relates to today's women. The cost of the overnight event is $75, which includes all meals. For more information or to register, call Toni Kerins at 774-9321 or 492-5066.
